Rewrite Stories of Sonic #0 and 1 (limited ed.)

Story 1: Tears of Mobius (formerly "Don't Cry For Me, Mobius")
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

        Old Man Owl (alias Ojisan) was taking a walk through the woods in the Mobius of the Sky when he noticed some fairies crying. Old Man said, "What is the matter, little ones?" One of them said, "We are the wood nymphs. Eggman has sent Metal Sonic to attack our beloved woods. We weep because our homes are being destroyed!" Alarmed, the owl reported to King Acorn. The king was also concerned.
"Eggman was never a nature lover, but he nevertheless has no right to terrorize our land and people." At that, he sent a signal to Sonic, whose home was not far away.
Tails, Sonic's friend, got their plane- the Tornado- ready, and they flew to Mobotropolis in South Island.

        Once in Mobotropolis, the King told Sonic what was going on. Sonic growled, "Well, if he thinks he can destroy an ecosystem just because he doesn't like it, he's got another thing coming! Let's get our friends and stop the madman!" Tails nodded. Sonic and Tails, along with Princess Sally and Prince Elias, gathered two other friends. One is Antoine, one of the King's guards, and Rotor, a technical genius of a walrus. They went to the forest and prepared for the worst!

        At the forest, Eggman and Metal Sonic were ready for them! "Metal," said Eggman, "you are doing a splendid job of wrecking the place! Soon, the Mobius of the Sky will have an ecological crisis on their hands, and it will soon mirror the Mobius of Darkness! Ha ha ha..." "That's what you think, Eggman," shouted Sonic!
At that, Eggman turned and saw the hedgehog.   Incensed, the mad doctor said to Metal Sonic, "Metal, take care of those pests!" Metal nodded and flew toward the defenders of the Mobius of the Sky! Sonic diverted its attention while his friends fought the Badniks (Eggman's robotic warriors), freeing the animals and people from their robotic forms!

        Soon, Metal Sonic received much battle damage, and needed to retreat!
Eggman said, "You may have won this time, but we'll be back!" Sally said, "Come back any time! We'll be ready!" After the match, Sonic and his friends planted seedlings to replace the trees destroyed by Eggman's Army. The wood nymphs were happy and everyone else was happy for that matter!

                                                                        End

----
-

                        Story 2: How The War Began- A Flashback Story
                                (Formerly "Oh, No-- Robo! No mo' Mobo!")
                        Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler. From the point of view of Sonic.

From Sonic's Journal... to whom it may concern...

        This story is to tell how the war with Eggman began! Mobius, sometimes called Planet Freedom, consisted of two worlds- the Mobius of the Sky and the Mobius of Darkness! The main city of the Mobius of the Sky was Mobotropolis. I was with my parents and my Uncle Chuck. I also occasionally spend time with my friend, Tails, and my girlfriend, Princess Sally.

One day, a mad scientist named Dr. Julian Ivo Robotnik came out of the lower dimension, the Mobius of Darkness. With him was his nephew and lab assistant, Snively. Also with him was his most powerful war droid, Metal Sonic! Robotnik was also called Eggman because of his obesity! He decided to use that as his war nickname! At that, he sent his Badniks to capture some of the people, including my Uncle Chuck, my parents, my dog Muttski, and several warriors. When I followed them to Robotropolis, Eggman's version of Mobotropolis (sometimes Robotropolis was called Eggmanland), I saw the people turned into Badniks. The Badnik Maker worked like this: A person or animal was forced into the machine, the machine turns the victim into a ball of energy, and the ball of energy is stuffed into a Badnik shell, which soon springs to life (but when destroyed by me or my friends, the person or animal trapped inside is freed- alive and well). My uncle and some warriors were turned into Super Badniks. The form my uncle was turned into was called the "Brass Maniac!" I wanted to save them, but Princess Sally, who followed me, said that getting myself killed would not help the captives at all! We had to retreat!

After we told the King what had happened, he said, "We must prepare for future attacks from Eggman. I have prepared Knothole, a training camp for warriors, just outside Mobotropolis. You can train there for future battles against that madman!" We used the camp to the best of our ability to prepare for future battles, as King Acorn intended!

End

-

Story 3: Sonic- Save Sally!
(Formerly "Run, Sally, Run!")
Fan Fiction by Danny Wheeler

Sonic and Tails were practicing in the Knothole Training Camp, as was Sally. Soon, Sally went off into the forest region of the Mobius of the Sky. Soon, Sonic saw Sally being carried off by a Buzzbomber, one of Eggman's Badniks! Sonic followed the robot to the Mobius of Darkness. Buzzbomber continued on with its captive to Robotropolis (a.k.a. Eggmanland), but Sonic and Tails, who followed his hero, experience a bit of trouble. Sonic took a shortcut through the swamp area to catch up.

Eggman was about to change Sally into a Crabmeat, another of the Badniks, when Sonic and Tails made it into the fortress! Sonic smashed the Badnik Maker and got Sally out. Sally gave a sigh of exasperation and then explained what was going on. She tells them that she was wearing a bracelet that would have copied the machine's schematics and reverse the process. But she wasn't nippy... she understood that Sonic wanted to help and was unaware of what the plan was. They put the incident behind them and continued on to plan for future attacks on Eggman's schemes!

End

-

Story 4: Sonic vs. Jaws

(Formerly "Something Fishy"?)
Fan fiction by Danny Wheeler

   Sonic decided to go to the lake in the Mobius of the Sky and went fishing.
But soon Jaws attacked him, a robotic creation of Eggman. When he continued down into the lake, he saw that Jaws brought with it an underwater Badnik Maker.
It took in fish and other aquatic animals, turned them into balls of energy, and stuffed the balls of energy into Badnik shells (just as any Badnik Maker does to any creature).

   Sonic surfaced, contacted Tails and Rotor back at his island, and waited for help. Soon, they came with a submarine. Sonic, Tails, and Rotor fought and defeated Jaws, freeing several life forms, including the fish used to create Jaws. The three went back to the surface and celebrated their latest victory! Eggman was incensed of the defeat of his warriors, and started plotting how to get even!

               End